Dear Friend,

The Women’s Room was filled with so much love this week! From gifts from volunteers, to reflective writing prompts, to heart shaped crafts of all kinds, these women are reminded daily that they are loved and valued.

For a Valentine’s-themed writing workshop, guests reflected on qualities they love about themselves: from courage, determination, and kindness to being an avid reader and expressing themselves through art. These affirming “Valentines to Myself” created a heartwarming display in the activity room.

A second project highlighted things guests love about The Women’s Room itself. Topping that list: the caring and compassionate staff and volunteers.
And while all of the above love was taking place, a few other critical things happened: TWR staff worked in partnership with our Street Outreach and Housing team to help a client in crisis, getting her emergency shelter as well as other assistance. One of our TWR clients, who we referred to PORT (Pasadena Outreach and Response Team), received her Section 8 Emergency Housing Voucher yesterday.

These are examples of how our different programs support one another, and how our community partnerships work closely together to achieve positive outcomes.

In honor of the ladies we serve, and the staff and volunteers who serve them, please consider making a gift to Friends In Deed today (or any day), so that we can continue to provide the same amount of love and compassion, along with the supportive services we offer each and every week.

A reminder that all FID programs and offices will be closed Monday in observance of President’s Day.

Blessings, and have a lovely weekend,
Rabbi Joshua
